PROJECTS

Smart Expense Tracker | GitHub

- Developed a full-stack Smart Expense Tracker application using Java, Spring Boot, Hibernate (JPA), and MySQL, enabling secure user authentication and personalized expense management.
- Implemented complete CRUD operations for expense management, allowing users to efficiently add, update, delete, search, and categorize expenses.
- Integrated Spring Security for authentication and Hibernate (JPA) for ORM-based database operations, ensuring secure access and reliable data persistence.
- Designed an interactive dashboard with total expense summaries, category-wise insights, and monthly reports to help users monitor and analyze their spending.

FoodHub – Food Ordering System | GitHub

- Developed a full-stack FoodHub application using Java, Spring Boot and MySQL, enabling users to browse food items, place orders, and manage their order history through a secure web interface.
- Implemented user authentication with Spring Security and role-based access control to provide secure login and protected application features.
- Built core food ordering functionalities including menu browsing, add-to-cart, order placement, and order history management using Hibernate (JPA) for efficient database operations.
- Designed the application using a layered Controller–Service–Repository architecture, improving maintainability, scalability, and code organization.
